Phase IV. Email service list extracted from spreadsheet data (commas are manually inserted after each address and ascii carriage return characters removed to prepare for an email insertion block).

It's no wonder that participants don't update their emailing list and the CPUC has to request updating efforts. Why wouldn't a small program extract an email address block and a list of addresses for postal mailing, or alternatively why wouldn't the document submission process automatically include the emailing and eliminate postal mailing altogether, or a private company could provide a mailing service if needed, or better just make the emailing of documents option and just list them on the CPUC web site for retrieval when needed, naturally flexibly sorted by subject and content through a real-time data base index, so information would not get lost.
