

The existing view to the southeast toward the Top of the World alternative substation site, on undeveloped watershed lands of Vista Irrigation District. This view is from the entrance to the Mataguay Scout Reservation on SR 79. The Top of the World site is located just beyond the furthest ridge to the east (as indicated in the image above). The terrain immediately beyond the ridge is somewhat level and the tops of some of the taller substation components could be visible. However, at a distance of approximately 4.5 miles, the structures would be barely noticeable.
