One of the sources of the company's water supply is the Santa Paula Creek, in which the company owns a prior right to all of the water of the stream. The agreement provides that during its term Glen Anlauf and Winifred Anlauf, his wife, shall have the right as against the company to take from the surface flow of the Santa Paula Creek a maximum of 65,340 cubic feet of water per year, but not in excess of 179 cubic feet in any 24-hour period. The use of the water is limited to irrigation purposes on their premises and shall not be used for human consumption. The price to be paid for the right to take water is $36.25 per year.

The agreement expires on December 31, 1952, but may be extended by mutual agreement in writing and with the consent and approval of this Commission.
