1812 Para Harry Company of the Airport Limousine Service of Sunnyvale, Inc., doing business as Airport Connection (applicant), has moved to withdraw its application in this matter. The motion was made at a prehearing conference after applicant was advised that its certificate of public convenience and necessity (CPCN) as a passenger stage corporation (PSC) already included the authority sought in the application.1

The Commission's Transportation Division (staff) notes that Decision (D.) 88-09-068 in Application (A.) 87-09-042 removed vehicle size restrictions on applicant's operations when it approved applicant's request to provide scheduled service between certain San Francisco hotels and San Francisco International Airport (SFO). The same decision removed an earlier restriction on on-call service between San Francisco and Oakland International Airport (OAK). However, D.88-09-068 added a new restriction

D.88-09-068 was issued on September 28, 1988. No. 70 2000 objection or request for modification was received.

Staff adds that, inadvertently, applicant's prior operating authority was not specifically revoked at the time that D.88-09-068 and Appendix PSC-899 were issued. To correct that, staff recommends that the two existing certificates granted by D.86-05-091 and D.88-09-068 be revoked and replaced simultaneously with a single certificate stating applicant's current operating authority. We agree with that recommendation.

Findings of lact

- 1. Applicant filed for authority to add on-call service between OAK and points in the City of San Francisco, and for removal of vehicle size restrictions from passenger stage authority PSC-899.
- 2. The authority requested by applicant had been granted in D.88-09-068 in A.87-09-042.
- 3. Applicant has moved to withdraw its application in its entirety.
- 4. Staff recommends that all prior operating authorities granted to applicant be revoked and replaced simultaneously by a certificate stating applicant's existing operating authority.

 Conclusions of Law
- 1. Applicant's motion to withdraw its application in its entirety should be granted.
- 2. Applicant's current operating authorities should be revoked and replaced by a CPCN stating applicant's existing operating authority.
- 3. Since this action memorializes existing operating authority, this order should be effective without delay.
