

EX. D. 110

By Decision (D.) 84-01-037 (14 CPUC2d 317 (1984)) and later decisions we authorized interLATA entry generally. However, we limited the authority conferred to interLATA service¹ and we subjected the applicants to the condition that they not hold themselves out to the public to provide intralATA services. By D. 94-09-065, we authorized competitive intralATA services effective January 1, 1995, for carriers meeting specified criteria.

Applicant intends to operate as a switchless reseller.² The Commission has established two major criteria for determining whether a CPCN should be granted. An applicant who is a switchless reseller² must demonstrate that it has a minimum of $25,000 of cash or cash equivalent (as described in D.91-10-041, Appendix A, Paragraph 5.1), reasonably liquid and readily available to meet the firm's start-up expenses. Such applicants shall also document any deposits required by local exchange companies or interexchange carriers (IECs) and demonstrate that they have additional resources to cover all such deposits. In addition, an applicant is required to make a reasonable showing of technical expertise in telecommunications or a related business and possess no ILEC. As part of its application, applicant provided audited financial statements, including a balance sheet for the year ended December 31, 1994, demonstrating that applicant has made the deposit necessary showing of financial fitness. This indicates that ¹ D.93-05-010 defines a switchless reseller as a nondominant interexchange carrier (NDIEC) with the following characteristics: it uses the switch of another carrier; it usually, but not always, uses access circuits that the underlying carrier purchases from an LEC; it provides service in its own name, and its customers view it as their telephone company for interLATA and interstate calls. D.92-06-069 noted that it is possible to control properate or manage telephone lines without owning them. The decision also notes that resellers which do not own or directly operate their own telephone wires may still have plant which is owned, controlled, operated and/or managed in order to facilitate communication by telephone.

Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity to Provide Telecommunications Services within the State of California.

ORIGINAL

Great Lakes Telecommunications Corporation, doing business as (dba) The Residential Group, dba Telecom Advantage, dba 800 Advantage, dba Small Business Group, dba Corporate Account Group, dba GLTC (applicant), an Illinois corporation authorized to do business in the State of California, seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity (CPCN) under Public Utilities Code, § 1001 to permit it to resell InterLATA and IntraLATA telephone services in California. Specifically, applicant seeks authority to operate as a nondominant interexchange carrier association (NDIEC), offering long distance telephone service throughout California, using leased facilities; that is, operating as a switchless reseller.

California is divided into ten Local Access and Transport Areas (LTAs), of various sizes, each containing numerous local exchange carriers. InterLATA describes services, revenues, and functions that relate to telecommunications originating in one LATA and terminating in another. IntraLATA describes services, revenues, and functions, that relate to telecommunications originating and terminating within a single LATA or within

9. Applicant's technical experience consists of managers and partners with a combined experience of over 10 years in the communications field.

10. Applicant has submitted with its application a complete draft of applicant's initial tariff which complies with the requirements established by the Commission including prohibitions on unreasonable deposit requirements.
