EX-1 S-VOL

report would be addressed in Rulemaking (R.) 91-08-003/ investigation (f) 91-08-002 and the ratemaking recommendations would be addressed in this proceeding.

Notice of availability of BWG's report was sent to all parties on December 20, 1994. By ALJ ruling dated February 24, 1995 a procedural schedule was set for PG&E to respond to the report and then for other parties to file comments addressing the proposed dollar adjustment, the management recommendations, and whether hearings are necessary. On March 27, 1995, PG&E filed its comments; no interested parties filed responsive comments.

On June 26, 1995, BWG wrote the assigned ALJ, with copies to all interested parties, that based on PG&E's March 27 filing it had examined PG&E's claim that $822,922 of General Customer Conservation Inquiry Program costs should not be reduced from 1990-1992 DSM balances. BWG states that its review of additional documentation provided by PG&E indicates that if had PG&E provided the supporting documentation prior to the issuance of its audit report, BWG would not have recommended the $822,922 reduction.

We find it is reasonable to accept PG&E's proposal to refund $11.2 million plus accrued interest to its electric and gas customers as the appropriate dollar adjustment necessary to the $41,389,000 in 1992 DSM shareholder incentive earnings authorized in D.93-12-044. We will address BWG's recommendations for improvements to PG&E's DSM financial and management reporting systems and its accounting recommendations in R.91-08-003/ I.91-08-002.

Findings of Fact

1. PG&E's proposal to refund $9.2 million plus accrued interest to its electric customers and $2.0 million plus accrued interest to its gas customers is reasonable based on the independent audit report of BWG.

2. The refund from authorized 1992 DSM shareholder incentive earnings is proposed to be incorporated in the year-end rate changes scheduled to be authorized in the pending electric & proceeding A.95-04-002 and in the pending gas proceeding before A.94-11-015. X800-80-10 pending at present a decision of the PUC will be issued in the near future.

Conclusion of Law

PG&E's proposed refund should be adopted.

PG&E's proposed refund should be adopted.

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. On or before December 31, 1995, Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) shall refund $9.2 million plus accrued interest to its electric customers through a credit to its Electric Revenue Adjustment Mechanism balancing account. This credit shall be reflected in rate changes authorized in PG&E's pending Energy Cost Adjustment Clause proceeding, Application (A.) 95-04-002. In its end of the year advice filing in compliance with a Commission decision in A.95-04-002, PG&E shall include workpapers showing the calculation of the refund.

2. On or before December 31, 1995, PG&E shall refund $2.0 million plus accrued interest to its gas customers through a credit to its Core and NonCore Gas Fixed Cost Accounts balancing accounts. This credit shall be reflected in rate changes authorized in PG&E's pending Biennial Cost Allocation Proceeding, A.94-11-015. In its end of the year advice filing in compliance with a Commission decision in A.94-11-015, PG&E shall include workpapers showing the calculation of the refund.

3. The accounting recommendations made in Barrington-Wellesley Group, Inc., December 20, 1994 independent audit report will be separately addressed in Rulemaking 91-08-003/A.93-11-012. Investigation 91-08-002.

4. A.93-04-028 is closed.
