PG&E Data Request No.:
PG&E File Name:
Request Date:	December 21, 2009	Requester DR No.:
Date Sent:	February 19, 2010	Requesting Party:	Energy Division
PG&E Contact:	Trina Horner	Requester:	Steve Roscow

Subject: PG&E Below-the-line CCA-related expenses

Question 2: Energy Division has requested a description of the organizational structure of PG&E's CCA activities, including the project manager for CCA, who authorizes below-the-line CCA order numbers, and who directs time be spent on below-the-line CCA activities.

Response 2: PG&E provides the following additional information in response to this request:

1. Communications to local and statewide elected officials, public officials, and voters regarding CCA-related public issues are managed and supervised by PG&E's Government Affairs and Political Resources groups in the Corporate Affairs Department. A copy of the organization chart for the Corporate Affairs Department is attached.
2. Communications with customers regarding CCA-related programs and services, including PG&E marketing communications, are managed and supervised by PG&E's Customer Care Department, including its Service & Sales group and Customer Engagement group. A copy of the organization chart for these Customer Care Department groups is attached.
3. Communications with news media regarding CCA-related programs and activities are managed and supervised by PG&E's Corporate Relations Department. (see # 1, above.)
4. Other departments with PG&E, such as Law, Regulatory Relations, Corporate Affairs and Corporate Accounting, provide support for these departments.

Question 4: Energy Division would like to know why PG&E's data request response is submitted as proprietary and confidential under PU Code Section 583.

Response 4: In addition to the personnel-related privacy concerns regarding the personnel-specific data provided in the response, the overall data is proprietary and confidential because it contains competitive-sensitive information that would disclose PG&E's confidential competitive and business strategies and plans if disclosed to PG&E's competitors.
