Subject: Go for the Gold! California Regulatory Bowling Team tryouts on V-day - don't miss it!

Ladies and Gentlemen:

In the spirit of Valentine's Day, we invite you to go bowling at the Lucky Strike in DC (<http://www.bowluckystrike.com/locations/info/?id=34>) this Sunday - yes, Valentine's Day.

Now I know what you're all thinking, "What does bowling have to do with Valentine's Day?" Rest assured that the answer is "absolutely nothing," unless of course you prefer to consider bowling in the big metaphysical picture of life, i.e. you have to go through a bunch of pins before you get a lucky strike.... it's about form, style, and precision, not power (yeah whatever).... following in other people's footsteps (umm, rented shoes - don't think about it too much or you'll never put them on - they spray disinfectant, it's cool).... and so on.

The fun starts at 9:00. The lanes turn into pumpkins at 11:00 (2-hr limit).... that's p.m.. For now, let me know if you're at all interested in spending Valentine's Day in the DC fast lanes! And so there are no misunderstandings, we're going dutch - no disrespect to the Dutch intended.

Best,
Pedro
