Hi Redacted

Thanks for the data, and I hope Trina is feeling better—

We will take a more systematic look, but I have one quick follow up, on the “2010 Materials and Contracts” tab:

1. There is an entry for “COALITION FOR RELIABLE &” that appears to have been truncated—what is the full name, and what does this group do?
2. FRISSON INC: what does this group do?
3. MOORE METHODS INC: what does this group do?

Thanks,

Steve Roscow

Steve,

Here are the answers to your questions:

1. There is an entry for "COALITION FOR RELIABLE &" that appears to have been truncated - what is the full name, and what does this group do?

Redacted I spoke too soon. Here are 2 more questions—a response sometime tomorrow would be fine, no rush:

1. We understand that PG&E, or representatives working on behalf of PG&E, are contacting PG&E ratepayers in Marin by phone to solicit their opt-outs. If so, where are the costs of that activity identified in this report?
2. We also understand that PG&E, or representatives working on behalf of PG&E, are going door-to-door to solicit opt-outs. If so, where are the costs of that activity identified in this report?

Thanks again--

Steve

Steve,

Just to clarify, yesterday's response sent at 5:12pm should also have been sent under PU Code 583. Here are the answer to your additional questions:

1. We understand that PG&E, or representatives working on behalf of PG&E, are contacting PG&E ratepayers in Marin by phone to solicit their opt-outs. If so, where are the costs of that activity identified in this report?

2. We also understand that PG&E, or representatives working on behalf of PG&E, are going door-to-door to solicit opt-outs. If so, where are the costs of that activity identified in this report?

Hi [Redact] and Trina,

I'm forwarding back to you a spreadsheet that Trina provided to us last month, which contains the names of the PG&E folks who are monitoring this spending. In the spending data that you provided yesterday, there are several new "Orders" that are not included on the spreadsheet. Could you update this spreadsheet with the relevant information for these orders?

Thanks again—here's the list:

Steve,

Per your request, please find attached the SF-Marine CCA Orders list which has been updated to reflect new orders for Q1 2010.

Thank you again. This update helps, but is also confusing, and here's why:

First example: one of the new Orders is below:

Here's a second example:

If you could shed some light on this, that would help us understand what we are seeing in these reports.
