Officers and Directors:

Some additional information related to Steve Kline's note below. The hearing will begin at 12 noon, California time. There are three panels planned for the hearing with Chris Johns testifying on the third panel. Chris may not testify, until after 1 pm. Here are the scheduled witnesses:

Panel 1 Senator Dianne Feinstein

Panel 2 Chris Hart of the NTSB and Cynthia Quarterman of the Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration

Panel 3 Chris Johns, Paul Cannon of the CPUC, Mayor Jim Ruane of San Bruno, Rick Kessler of the Pipeline Safety Trust

Here is a link to the hearing should you wish to watch it from your computer.

Subject: Chris Johns' testimony to Congress

Team,

As many of you already know, Chris Johns will appear in front of Congress later today regarding the San Bruno accident, along with representatives from other organizations including the NTSB and the CPUC.

In his remarks, Chris will discuss our efforts to support and assist the people of San Bruno, including the establishment of the $100 million Rebuild San Bruno Fund. He will explain how we are taking responsible action to assure everyone that our gas system is safe, and will also discuss PG&E's commitment to working with investigators to determine the cause of this tragedy.

We expect that Chris will receive a range of questions from members of Congress. We look forward to providing whatever facts and context is needed to help the public, our customers and our employees understand not just the details of the San Bruno accident, but what we can all learn from this tragedy so that no other community in the United States has to experience this kind of ordeal.

On Wednesday, we will send out to all employees a message summarizing the hearing.

We will continue to keep you posted on developments related to the San Bruno Incident.

Thanks for your continued support.

Steve
