If you want, we can schedule something now for mid-late October and then it will be on the calendar. October 19, 25, and 27 currently look pretty good...

Julie,

I certainly understand. I didn't realize your calendar was that bad, but I'm not surprised given everything that is going on right now. I'm working with Jack, Gurbux and the entire ED team and will continue to do so. I'd still enjoy getting together with you at some point just to catch up --- irrespective of this issue. Since now is such a bad time for you, I'll check in with you in a couple of months to see if your schedule is any better. Thanks for getting back to me, and sorry to be a nag.

Erik

Hi Erik,

Here's the thing. This issue is so far down on my priority list right now that it's not really on it. Jack Fulcher has been working on this, in coordination with Gurbux and Jeanne Clinton, and they have a bunch of questions. I haven't read any of the related emails or documents at all, so am uninformed. My calendar is booked about 3 weeks out right now, and that's not counting all the stuff that is NOT on it at all as a result of the San Bruno situation. So, if I were to agree to lunch, it would have to be in mid-late October at this point. Your alternative is to deal with Jeanne or Gurbux in the meantime (or Molly Sterkel or Steve Roscow, depending on the angle), who are also probably very busy but probably not as bad as me. Sorry! I know this does not bring you any comfort, and also I would actually enjoy having lunch with you, but it's just impossible right now...

Thanks for what is hopefully your understanding.

Julie

Julie,

How about getting together for lunch or coffee sometime to catch up (and follow-up on the voice message I left you last week)? How about some time on Thursday, September 30?

Best regards,

Erik
