Subject: Re: Clanon Interview - Governor's Call

I had a talk with the Public Works Director in San Jose. I think it would be very helpful to find a way to give the local gov'ts and first-responders information on valve locations that's updated and in their possession, for their own planning and responding purposes. They're very accustomed to handling confidential information, and it seems like we could set up a secure system that satisfies your people's concerns on that. Maybe we can discuss?

Per Travis' email below, please find attached the San Francisco Fire Chief's memo to Mayor Newsom updating the Mayor about our progress with her office.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Interview - Governor's Call

All:

We met with the City of San Jose last week and provided and left the maps. It was a productive and cordial meeting. The City had follow up questions which the team is preparing our responses and we have a follow up meeting the City on Weds. The City would like a copy of the map WITH valve locations and our policy has been to NOT leave those behind. The team is preparing to show this map at the Weds follow up meeting with the City but to NOT leave it behind per our policy. Gov Rel called the senior staff of the Mayor of San Jose this morning and the City Public Works director and they are all appreciative of our follow up. Papia Gambelin of my staff is AT SJ City Hall right now to help mitigate their statements. We have supportive emails from the City of SJ which state their appreciation from the meeting last week. The one issue that we may still need to resolve is the City's desire to have the maps with our valves--which we currently have elected not to leave behind.

For San Carlos, we have already met with them once and left behind the maps. The City had follow up questions which are now ready and we have requested a follow up meeting with the mayor and city manager. We are waiting for them to give us a date for the second meeting. I believe the SC mayor's comments in this article were older statements from a week ago when he attended the Rep Speier briefing meeting.

I would also suggest that we provide Clannon with the SF Fire Chief's report to the SF mayor which also clearly demonstrates our efforts. Brian: we will send this to you.

Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

Thanks
Travis
