Paul:

I left you voice mail on this. We released our risk procedure manuals as part of the Top 100 production. Unfortunately, the cover page was not redacted and it identifies the individual employees responsible for the procedure. These documents are posted on the CPUC website.

We'd like to send you or to however is the right person a redacted version eliminating those names. Do you think that is appropriate and if so who should we send the information to?

Thanks in advance for your response.
