Subject: RE: Microgy Update

Sean:

There are two additional components to the Microgy invoice that I should have mentioned in my last email. Along with the cover page with the total invoice amount (total volume x time unit price) price, the invoice also includes:

1. Attestation language wherein Microgy certifies that the volumes referenced PG&E meets the eligibility requirements for biogas injected into a natural gas pipeline" pursuant to the Third Edition of the California Energy Commission's RPS Eligibility Guidebook for the use in a California RPA-certified facility; and
2. One-page summary of daily volumes scheduled and delivered to the Delivery Point (Topock).

Hope that helps,

All that is included in the Microgy invoice is the amount of units produced (MMBtu's) for that month at the specific facility, the unit price, and the total amount being invoiced to PG&E.
