Tom and team:

I just spoke to Jim and provided our perspective.

"We are drafting a term sheet we can live with and do not want to see the project discontinued at this time. However, the term sheet will not lead to a blank check for HECA. We look forward to working with HECA."

Jim said he just gave HECA another $100 million, totaling over $400 million now. He appreciated our effort to continue to support HECA.

I just wanted to give you a heads-up that Jim Markowsky, the head of DOE's Fossil Energy Program will be trying to call Fong tomorrow. As head of the DOE department that will be directing $400m toward the HECA project, Jim is calling Fong (and both of the key IOU's involved in the HECA project) at President Peevey's suggestion. Given that DOE were looking for relevant contact details for Fong (and Al Fohrer at Edison) I took the liberty of providing your contact details as the best way of scheduling a suitable time to speak.

Regards

Jonathan
