Subject: [FWD: DAWG-Related -- California Economic Outlook]

DEMAND ANALYSIS WORKING GROUP (DAWG)
-- EARLY NOTICE FOR A VERY SPECIAL WORKSHOP ON ECONOMIC-DEMOGRAPHIC DRIVERS IN CA

(Note, this email is being sent to the Full DAWG -- Demand Forecasting Subgroup members also received an invite sent just to them, since we will be discussing these issues in our DF Pup meetings. The public is invited to the workshop, and the workshop will be noticed officially by Energy Commission at a later date.)

Please log in to indicate whether you will attend this Workshop:

<http://www.doodle.com/gcn8rbdbdt8cdg4vp>

Date: January 19, 2011

Time: 10am-3pm PST

Location: California Energy Commission, 1516 Ninth Street, Sacramento CA

Please see this advance notice for a special workshop being held at the California Energy Commission. The purpose of the workshop is to convene experienced economic forecasters to discuss forecasting methods, the changing California economy, and what to expect in the future. The information will be used to better understand the economy's effect on energy use and environmental planning in California.

A wide array of economic forecasters will be invited as panel members, including forecasters from Economy.com, Global Insight, UCLA, University of the Pacific, Department of Finance, and other organizations. The moderator may give a short presentation and will introduce the panel members. The last half hour of each panel will be for questions from the audience.

Note that the topics discussed in the meeting will not be energy-related per se, but will pertain to forecasting issues of interest in terms of Econ-Demo. Please see the attached draft agenda.

Thank you.
C.
