Subject: Congressional Research Report - Keeping Americas Pipelines Safe

Team,

The attached report was released today from the Congressional Research Service. It provides a basic primer on pipeline safety and the recent industry record, addresses some of the key issues to be considered going forward including RSV/ASVs as well as the role of various federal agencies including PHMSA, TSA and FERC.

We will review this further and will seek out reactions from others in the industry.

Please let me or anyone on the DC team know if you have any questions.

Marisa
