Paul - FYI. It looks like someone over here jumped the gun.

My apologies to you and Richard and your team.

Tom, Brian, Jane,

Just as I hit send on this e-mail below, I received an e-mail from Kirk Johnson saying Rich Clarke called him this morning unhappy about the Chron story this morning. CPSD had a data request pending last week asking for any other instances when PG&E had increased the pressure up to MAOP. I asked that we work with the media folks before sending the response to the CPUC, as there was no basis on which we could assert confidentiality in the response and it was likely to become public quickly. We haven't yet responded to the CPUC, but in the meantime I wasn't made aware that we had given some information to the reporter (about the number of times, but not the locations -- here's the link to the story if you haven't read it yet). So essentially the CPUC is learning about this for the first time this morning in the paper. Brian, you may get some calls. I'm in the office today if you want to discuss.
