QUESTION 18

The figure below shows web-presentment data of an actual PG&E gas customer. Based on this figure, it appears that gas consumption is only displayed to a resolution of 1 therm. Is this correct for all customers?

ANSWER 18

Although it appears on the screen-print that gas consumption is only displayed to a resolution of 1 therm, web presentment for all customers actually details gas consumption in therms to a hundredths' place precision, e.g., 1.01 therms. More specifically, when the mouse hovers over the bar in the chart, the chart will display the gas consumption up to two decimal places.
