Yep. Hi Erik. I have been in Vancouver, so haven't had a chance to return your phone call, but have reviewed the report carefully. I don't think there will be any surprises to you. The report includes some history, both with SJVPA and MEA, some reporting on the PG&E spending reported to us, both in support of and in opposition to CCAs, and includes the items that MEA/MCE has requested a response from PG&E on. We're trying hard to get it out on time, but it will be a challenge. I have edited it quite a bit and we are doing our best to keep it factual and neutral in tone.

Julie

Julie, we're still blaming the whole mess on Jacobson in the CCA report, right?

Paul,

As you may be aware, the 2010-2011 budget package requires the CPUC to send its first quarterly report regarding CCA implementation issues to the Legislature by this Monday, January 31. Steve Roscow has been drafting the report and we have been working with him to get him the information he needs to do that job. Given some of the challenges we have faced working with Steve on CCA matters, we are somewhat concerned about the tone and contents of the report. I have reached out to Julie Fitch, but she has not had the opportunity to get back to me.....so I thought I'd drop you a quick note to see if you have had a chance to review the report and whether or not you see any major gaps in our compliance. Should we be prepared for any major "surprises"?

Any insights you can share would be appreciated.....but if you can't, I understand that too.

Exciting news about Florio.....it will sure be interesting to see how the new appointments change California's regulatory landscape.

Erik
