QUESTION 11

Provide the following for each information technology (IT) system which has been, or will be added or modified as a result of CPUC authorization of SmartMeter deployment, but which will not be charged to a SmartMeter account including, but not limited to, date storage, billing, customer support, inventory control, PG&E.com, and web-presentment of usage data:

- a. PG&E's name for the IT system,
- b. The name of any vendors or subcontractors that wrote, modified, or sold software used by this IT system
- c. Functions performed by this system,
- d. Initial activation date of this system,
- e. Description of modifications to this system required due to the SmartMeter program,
- f. Budgeted costs for these modifications,
- g. Account to which this costs will be credited or debited.

ANSWER 11

PG&E has followed the CPUC's requirements ordered in Decisions 06-07-027 and 09-03-026 on charging incremental costs to the SmartMeter™ balancing accounts. All incremental costs of modifying PG&E's Information Technology systems to support the SmartMeter™ program are charged to the SmartMeter™ balancing accounts. No SmartMeter™ deployment-related costs for modifications or additions to PG&E's Information Technology systems have been charged to other non-SmartMeter™ balancing accounts.
