Hi DAWG members,

The webinar organizer confirms that this US EPA webinar (see below) will be recorded for later viewing. Note that there are two DAWG events underway during the timeframe of the webinar. On Feb 24 there is a "forecasting assumptions" workshop at CEC in the morning, followed by an ES Pup in-person meeting in the afternoon.

Thank you.

Webinar Series on Evaluation, Measurement, and Verification (EM&V)

Thursday, February 24, 2011

“Incorporating the Efficiency Resource into State and Regional Energy Resource Plans – Challenges and Opportunities for EM&V”

Sponsored by:

*The State Energy Efficiency Action Network (SEE Action)
U.S. EPA State Climate & Energy Program*

Please join us for the seventh call in this series to hear a panel of experts discuss strategies for documenting efficiency savings in state and regional energy resource plans, and the relationship of such efforts to EM&V.

The theme for this webinar is how EM&V can support resource planning, and how the requirements for planning can impact the information and level of rigor with which efficiency programs and portfolios should be analyzed.

The discussion will highlight the experience of four entities around the country that are attempting to determine how much efficiency (e.g., reduction in energy consumption and demand) has been or should be part of a state's or region's energy resource. Presentations will address specific issues and barriers, with a focus on the implications for conducting EM&V.

Following the presentations, time will be provided for questions and answers.

Date: Thursday, February 24, 2011

Time: 2:00 PM – 3:30 PM EST

Reserve your Webinar seat now at:

After registering you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the Webinar.

Speakers for this Webinar include:

- Steven Schiller, Schiller Consulting
- Tom Eckman, Northwest Power and Conservation Council
- Arthur Maniaci, New York Independent System Operator
- Carmen Best, California Public Utilities Commission
- Shawn Enterline, Vermont Energy Investment Corp

Who should participate?

This Webinar series is intended primarily for staff from Public Utility Commissions, State Energy Offices, State Environment Departments, and non-profits that are getting started with EM&V or seeking to expand and improve their methods. The Webinars will offer an opportunity for these stakeholders to engage with others in similar roles.

Participants are encouraged to invite key evaluation stakeholders in their jurisdictions – such as utilities, evaluation consultants, and other affected parties – to participate.

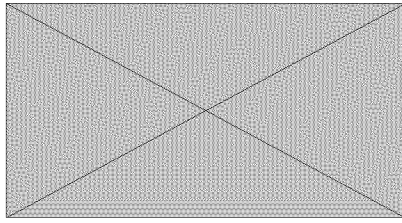

What topics are covered in this Webinar series?

The Webinars will cover a range of issues and challenges currently faced by states and their partners working to carry out evaluation activities for end-use energy efficiency programs. Approaches to evaluation planning will be discussed, along with the key issues and considerations faced in states across the country.

This series also addresses the role that effective EM&V plays in the achievement of state energy and environmental policy goals.

While the primary area of focus is evaluation for ratepayer-funded programs, this information may be useful for staff working to document the effects of Recovery Act efforts and other initiatives.
