I hate when things like that happen but they always seem to. You have a good weekend too!

Ok. Not a big deal, but just so you know: the error is in Map No. 44. The description correctly states "East Palo Alto" but the parenthetical in the "Location" column incorrectly states "Palo Alto". Someone just forgot the "E." before "Palo Alto" in the Location column, but the description is correct. Frankly, in a list this huge in size and scope, if that is the only error then I will be happy. We may send you a corrected version to post eventually, but my document person has left for the day too. So -- enjoy your weekend.

It's already posted (I thought I bcc'd you but I may have stupidly forgot to), but I can swap it out for the new version if someone from the web team is around. I don't know if they are.

There was a typo in there they want to fix -- they called something Palo Alto when it was really East Palo Alto. I am about to strangle someone. If you haven't already posted, can you hold off, or no?
