Subject: SM/UL issue?

Jim:

As we discussed, we would like to follow up on the UL issue.

Please provide specific citations to summarize what safety related certifications or requirements are applicable to utility SMs (to directly or indirectly establish, presuming this the case, that this equipment is exempt from the category of electronics that is subject to UL certification per applicable state laws).

If possible, separate from formal requirements, please also provide some references or sources to establish industry best practice relative to this issue.

Thanks.
