At the meeting yesterday, Mike asked for ideas on how to deal with the public participation side of it, especially given that the same people tend to appear time and time again. Here are some suggestions you might want to consider:

- 1) Holding public participation to the end of the meeting. Perhaps if the sat through the meetings, they would learn more and appreciate the wait.
- 2) Holding the public participation meeting as a separate session in the afternoon.
- 3) Limit cameras to those already installed that provide a record.
- 4) Always have a CHP officer present.
