Ok, but even so. We can't afford any more problematic mis-steps on this issue. In general, I'd rather hear about this stuff directly from you guys rather than thru a staff person, when it comes to this particular issue (not everything, obviously). We will still need to formulate a strategy for dealing with it (both your parts and our parts).

Julie - FYI. I sent this to Paul. Alope has overstated the issue.

No. 500k have the same electronics as the ones with a problem, but only 3000 have thrown error codes, and only 1500 have the problem. So the real number is 1500.

500K is the right number ?
