Yes; he knows there continues to be questions about his own leadership and he expects to discuss it with you tomorrow.

You should also know that our view (the board's and officer team) is that Peter's departure would not serve the company well at this time. You're likely to hear that as well.

Thanks. See you've done another reorganization. The structural change probably makes sense---as a minimum. But, am not sure Keenan and Salas are the problems. Does Peter have a clue about what I want to talk about tomorrow?
