Jason joined Battery in January 2005 and focuses on investments in the clean technology sector. Jason is currently a board member at Redwood Systems, SolarBridge Technologies, Qteros, and Ideal Power Converters (Observer). Before joining Battery, Jason spent more than a decade in management roles at leading technology companies. Most recently, he served as Vice President of Marketing and Business Development for Neoteris, which was acquired by NetScreen and then subsequently acquired by Juniper Networks. At Neoteris, Jason was responsible for developing and executing the company's product strategy and establishing leadership within the emerging SSL VPN product category.

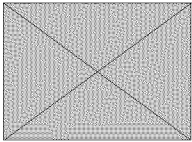

with me Prior to Neoteris, Jason spent five years at Cisco Systems, where he led the product on management team for the company's multi-billion dollar family of fixed-configuration Link Catalyst switches. Jason has also held positions with Ford Motor Company, Ericsson Raynet Corporation and MPR Associates. Jason received a BA with honors in Political Science from the University of California, Los Angeles and an MBA from Harvard Business School.

Jason co-authors www.cleanmakesgreen.com, a blog focused on cleantech.
