Hi there,

I have sort of a tiny favor to ask of you, and of course you can say 'no' if you want to. There is this young woman who desperately wants to work in the energy industry and based on her resume she seems smart and qualified. I met her today for the first time and I think she just needs a guiding hand so to speak. So, I thought of you. She may not work out at all, but if you spent 15 minutes drinking coffee with her you may go to heaven cuz you would have done your good deed for that day ☺.

Here's her resume. Sam Kang from Greenlining forwarded her to me and I told him that I would connect her with you.

Ps – she's also pretty attractive ☺ and she went to Princeton!!

Let me know if you'd be willing to meet with her.
