I know. Email can be a bit abrupt. I didn't mean to imply that you were the problem Michelle. You've always been easy to work with. And I don't mean to exclude Mr. Shapson. It's just that he is being so anal on this - to the point of complaining to our internal counsel - that I see him more as an obstacle than anything else. I'm happy to include everybody in the tent but this idea that he is the central point of contact is not productive. I keep our counsel informed and involved as I suspect you do. I want to resolve this amicably if it is in everyone's best interest. I'm not interested in posturing and litigating to get to a settlement.

Hey, it isn't coming from me, I told Mitchell that you'd asked if we were open to starting settlement discussions and I told you we'd get back to you and that no substance was discussed and I didn't think it was an issue.

Mark and Brian:

As you know, I tried to arrange a phone conference today with both of you, but schedules did not allow for that. As you can see from the below emails, Frank had asked Brian to include me on any communications with my client, CPSD, and Brian agreed to that. I told Mark of that request when he first got involved in this case.

Early on in the case, Mark and I had a brief conversation about how to start settlement discussions. I also asked Mark to make sure that any settlement discussions include me as CPSD's attorney, to which he also agreed.

It has come to my attention that Brian attempted to contact Michelle Cooke [as interim director of CPSD] to discuss a potential settlement of the proceeding without including me or anyone else from Legal Division on that communication.

Please make sure that I am a part of any discussion with my client.

Mitchell

Brian -

Please copy CPSD's legal counsel, Mitchell Shapson, on any future correspondence related to this OII. Please also be sure to include Mitchell in any meetings that might be scheduled. (I am copying Mitchell on this e-mail, so you and others at PG&E will have his e-mail address handy.)

I see no harm in an open dialogue between the utility and Commission staff on an item of this nature, but because it is a formal proceeding it is important that the assigned Legal Division attorney be kept in the loop on all discussions.

Thanks.

Frank

Julie/Frank - FYI. Letter we received from the ISO re RA issues in the OII.

Julie - I didn't want to surprise you with it before we met.
