Cool, let's talk. You know how messed up we are -- we will be hesitant to do the upfront work if we don't have clear recovery, especially since none of us want non-participants to pay extra.

Okay. Let's talk tomorrow on the meter stuff. I know your concerns on memo vs balancing but we gotta figure something that we can live with, too. Btw, why is this even an issue now? Who told you guys to worry about it now?

I will find that out. For this small group of eight meter changers, the six have gotten digital non-communicating meters. I think the analog number is very small -- Sudi and a couple of others -- but I have asked the group. And don't forget the memo/bal account problem. Thanks!

Hi

Great. So, how many analog meters have you re-installed so far? I will for sure get a hold of Carol tomorrow and will touch base with you.

Of the small group of meter changers, we contacted and worked things out with all but two. We have tried to contact them by phone and in person, and we will be disconnecting them soon.
