Mike:

The Niners look for real. The defense is awesome. Alex Smith looks like a completely different quarterback with the roll outs and fake handoffs. It reminds me of the good old days when Montana and Young were unpredictable and unstoppable. Jim Harbaugh is a brilliant coach. Much better as a coach than quarterback. Now we just need Frank Gore and the offensive line to keep the running game going. The Niners will have a complete package!

Did I ever tell you I was in the Michigan Stadium, as an MBA student, when Michigan State broke Jim's arm and ended our season?

Please ask these fellows from Mare Island and HECA to give me a call. I will do my best to find a possible win-win situation.

Happy Holidays to you and your family!

Fong

Hi! Great game last night. Steelers suffered three outages, one by Niners. Please look at the attached which I want to discuss with you right after the new year. Jobs and economic development right in heart of your service territory. Also, want to discuss with you the revised HECA project, now owned by SCS. They claim cost will be cut by over 50% from previous level set by BP/Rio Tinto. Still have DOE's $408 million. Makes much more sense now and helps on the CSC front, big time. Happy Holidays.

Hi Carol and Mike,

Thanks again for taking the time to meet with Mayor Davis and his team as well as our LDK/SPI team regarding our proposal for economic development and job growth on Mare Island and the City of Vallejo.

As requested, attached is the presentation we presented at the meeting. We are moving forward on a definitive agreement with Lennar and are quite confident that we will have that accomplished in early January. We appreciate your comments and willingness to support these efforts through your introductions to the senior people at PG&E and other users of solar power.

Please let me know if there is any other information I can provide as we start moving this project forward quickly.

Thanks,

Steve
