Subject: Revised short-list

Meredith,

I wanted to follow-up with you on PG&E's revised RPS short-list.

First, a general question: is PG&E not going to include any REC products on its revised short-list? A dozen or so REC products were included on the initial short-list, but I see no mention of these in your revised Excel sheet that you sent on Friday.

Also, after talking with our procurement team, I wanted to hit a few data points that we want to see included in your revised filing (some of which may already be included in the short-list template, and some of which may be additional):

- 1) New Independent Evaluator report for the Revised Short-list
  - 2) Break-out of the PAV scores (by Excel column) into their component values
  - 3) Update all data with new forward-curve price information
  - 4) Update RA network upgrade X-Y scatterplot
  - 5) Provide qualitative rationale for why PG&E is short-listing these projects
  - 6) Provide a separate Excel tab ranking the revised short-list in order of 'major milestone' viability
- o Site control, permitting status, interconnection progress, and transmission system upgrade requirements

o For more detailed description see Table 2. (Description of High, Medium, and Low Viability Categories) on Page 5 of the Commission's Q3 2011 RPS Report to the Legislature [url: <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/NR/ronlyres/2A2D457A-CD21-46B3-A2D7-757A36CA20B3/0/Q3RPSReporttotheLegislatureFINAL.pdf> ]

Let me know if you have any questions about any of these items.

Thanks,

Adam Schultz
