Turns out I did get the Second cut off notice. It was in pile of mail from late last week that I had not opened yet.

Whew. Of all people to turn-off. That said, I've asked folks to look into the process and figure out what went wrong or how we can do it better.

Thanks. I believe power is back on. PGE records show that I was sent two letters and a phone call. I did not get the letters and there was a VM last week that could have been the call, but it was cut off.

From my end, this is no big deal, and is actually kind of funny, but I hope I am an anomaly.

I've got people running it down ASAP. I've asked to roll a crew if we can't remotely turn it back on. And we need to find out how on earth you could be shut-off and not notified.
