I know your guys and Ed's group are short-staffed and overwhelmed, but I worry that approval in September may be a day late to keep this facility open. If the approval could be expedited by even a month, Bottlerock could continue to operate.

However, mistakes made by a previous management team at Bottlerock and a series of under-performing new wells, led to them seeking a renegotiated contract. PG&E negotiated strongly for customers in developing a better contract and included new provisions ensuring that Bottlerock hired staff and guaranteed employment levels in Lake County.
