CPUC Information Alert: CPUC Safety Leadership Conference Set for Los Angeles

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) is hosting a Safety Leadership Forum in Southern California focused on how Boards and Executive Leadership impact organizational success in the area of safety culture and safety practices, and what Boards and Executive Leadership can do to address those organizational failures.

When: Oct. 23, 2012, 9 a.m. – 11:30 a.m.

Where: CPUC Auditorium, 320 W. 4th St., Los Angeles

Who: Robert Sumwalt, Member of the National Transportation Safety Board will discuss the critical role of leadership in preventing organizational accidents. Mortimer Downey III, Vice Chairman of the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority Board, will discuss his Board's role in Metro's efforts to recover from the tragic Fort Totten train accident in 2009 by refocusing its mission on safety.

On June 26, 2012, the CPUC hosted a similar Safety Leadership Conference in San Francisco and committed to bring the same information to Southern California. A video webcast of the June conference and the presentations shown are available at www.cpuc.ca.gov/PUC/events/SafetyLeadershipConference06262012.htm.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
