Subject: RE: Crazy Horse Switching Station

Hi Andrew,

I've researched the noticing information you requested and here is what I've found out.

PG&E posted the notice of filing of the PTC application for the Crazy Horse Notice at three locations. These locations include 2 gates on [Redacted] both northeast of the intersection of [Redacted] and [Redacted], one is approximately 1050 feet from the intersection and the other 2350 feet from the intersection. The third gate is on [Redacted] approximately 1600 feet northwest of the intersection of [Redacted] and [Redacted]. One of these notices one was located approximately 45 feet away from the property line of resident Robert Elliot who is concerned with the switching station. At the end of the noticing period and at the time of the posted notice removal, all three of the notices were in good condition and easily read.

PG&E also published the notice in the Monterey County Herald for two successive weeks, on May 10, 2010 and May 17, 2010.

Finally, PG&E mailed a copy of the notice to the required list of agencies along with two nearby landowners. PG&E did not mail the notice to the residents now expressing concern; they are located more than 300 feet away from the proposed switching station and related transmission line rights-of-way but within 300 feet of the approved access road.

I've attached a copy of the declaration of posting and publishing with all the details.

Thanks

Cristina

I don't need it that fast if you need more time. Early December is fine.

Cristina: can you draft a brief explanation of PG&E's efforts to notify local residents of the CH project?

We need to know the actions that were taken by PG&E for noticing CH.

Any evidence of the posting of notices etc. would be useful as well.

I need this by nov. 26, thanks!
