Thanks Mike. Let's do it again in a month or so and catch up. Thanks for the tip.

Brian:

It was nice to catch up today. Thanks again for your mentorship and feedback. The link below is the restaurant that I really like in Sonoma (had an amazing stuffed quail there on Saturday, and Alyshia's sea bass was perfection). Small place, good wines, and interesting food. Our waitress was a bit off the night we were there, but she did at least make a solid dessert recommendation.

The other spot that is good, is El Dorado Kitchen – might be a better-priced alternative for work events rather than the place located in SMI. <http://www.eldoradosonoma.com/>

Happy new year!
