Carol,

I just wanted to let you know that I spoke with Dan Kammen and he is very excited about being on the CES-21 Board. Thanks so much for the introduction.

The two other outside Board members that we have reached out to are Mani Chandy from CalTech and Arun Majumdar who currently works at Google and was formerly Undersecretary of Energy at DOE. Below are some links that provide you with some biographical information about them. We have recently confirmed Mr. Chandy's participation on the Board and are in the process of following up with Mr. Majumdar. We are looking forward to working with both of them and believe their guidance and input will be instrumental to making CES-21 a success.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns with our Board selections.

Thanks again for your help.

Regards,

Erik

Subject: Introduction

Hi Dan: President Peevey supported a partnership between our regulated electric utilities (PG&E, SCE and SDG&E) and the Lawrence Livermore National Lab for research and development projects. On December 20, 2012, the commission, in a 5-0 vote, approved ratepayer funding for this 5-year partnership. One of the first steps that needs to be taken is the formation of a 6-person Board and President Peevey suggested you as a potential member from the academic community for the Board. PG&E is taking the lead on some of the administrative tasks, and Erik Jacobson at PG&E asked me to put him in touch with you.

So, the purpose of this note is to do an e-mail introduction of you and Erik, so Erik can contact you directly to discuss the partnership project further and to answer any questions you have about the project or the Board.

Thank you from President Peevey for listening and we all hope this is something that will appeal to you so your talents can help move the partnership forward.

And feel free to contact me with any questions –

Carol Brown
