Re Panel 1: “Defining a Climate and Culture of Safety” – it is now looking like we will definitely have someone from Alaska Airlines, in addition to Paul Levy (former Chair of the Massachusetts Public Utilities Commission and other public and private agencies) and Nick Stavropoulos of PG&E. Question: Do you still want to try to get Jody Bridges of the Naval Aviation Safety School? He had responded previously that he was interested but would need to have travel paid. What is your preference?

More questions to follow ☺
