Laura – thanks for the update. No hurry on getting this info to me.

Did Paul tell you that he'd like for you to go ahead and send the invite to Sullenberger? He said he was going to mention it to you over coffee today, I want to make sure he didn't forget. Attached here is the letter that we had... should give you a head start, you'd just need to change a few things.

Liza

The PG&E team that is dealing directly with BV is putting together some written protocols/expectations as you and I and Jane have discussed. Several folks are out with their families this week for spring break, and so I believe it will be next week before we get back to you with a document. Meanwhile, I know that [Redacted] is meeting with Maria Solis this Friday to continue their previous discussions about various data requests and general progress.

I really appreciate your interest in understanding more about how this relationship is truly working. We recognize that there are challenges for all three parties!

So, more next week.

Thanks

Laura
