Michael –

No need to apologize, you are a very busy man.

Thanks for the feedback, I am hoping we can address these. And the wheels are turning for us to come visit you, probably early next week.

Happy liberation week!

yours, sid

Sid

I somehow missed this note during the San Diego prep. My apologies.

On the list, a couple of thoughts:

- 1) EE Third Party Implementers - how do you 'evaluate' competitive solicitations for EE?
- 2) EE Financing as a gateway for demand side management
- 3) Data/customer segmentation – how can we use targeted EE to better manage the grid in the GRC cycle?

I missed the note about EE Financing and rolling programs – yes, let's meet!

Thanks for sending around the org chart, by the way

Michael

Michael –

Hi there!

I am writing to ask if you have any input on our 'workshop for ideas from outside of our sphere.' I've included the current draft agenda along with a list of speakers, and would appreciate any input or names or groups you'd be interested in hearing from. We're trying to set a date and send out invites soon.

Also, would you be interested in talking to us about two topics – financing and rolling programs? When last we spoke, we all mentioned that when the time was ripe we'd like to discuss our ideas for these – is this the right moment?

Have a great weekend!

Thanks!

yours, sid

Hi Sid,

Attached is a three pager that has a brief summary of event details and a list of targeted experts for the subjects we plan to discuss at the conference. This document is reasonable to be shared with Commission staff, primarily Colvin. Also, in speaking with the other IOUs and internally we are hoping you can reach out to Sandoval's advisor Collette Kersten as well for additional input as to potential speakers or issues they would like discussed. Athena Besa from Sempra said that in conversations with Commission staff Sandoval and her advisors had a keen interest in EE subjects and impacting 2015 and beyond. Also, as for input from Colvin we are hoping to have that within the next couple days so we can finalize a date and send out invites. Will that be a possibility?

If you need anything else please tell me.

Thanks,
