Well, I expect that they will keep their eagle eyes on future agendas. But yes, it would be nice if they shifted their efforts to other states.

Wow. I was wondering why they didn't go nuclear. Oh well, I hope they put their efforts in pursuing this issue in other states.

Hi Brian,

I want to share with you the follow up on last week's agenda item. Later that day, Sudi Scull called Judy Cooper, of my staff, and rebuffed her for not calling her and her anti-smart meter organization folks, to let them know about the agenda item. Sudi said that if they had known about it, they would have been out in droves. Judy told her there had been adequate public notice, and that Joshua Hart was a party to the complaint, so he would have known that it was on the agenda. Judy handled it tactfully, although Sudi was still convinced it was all a conspiracy.

So, dodged that bullet!

Karen

We have asked for our media folks to be there to answer questions.

That still would have not stopped them from showing up. Sometimes they show up even when there is nothing smart meter related on the agenda. Hopefully they will not show up. But they are still upset about this issue, so we are prepared.

Hi Brian,

We only have a few sign ups but the smart meter people usually do not sign up electronically before the meeting. They just show up. We hope for the best but are prepared for a crowd tomorrow.

See you then,

Karen

Karen – any idea how many SmartMeter people have signed up so far for tomorrow ?
