Looks like an opportunity for the ALJs to really look at the schedule.

FYI - if you haven't already heard, the infamous April 26 date may be extended to May 10 per an all-party request (we do not oppose).

Here is the exchange on the extension. DRA said they had "polled the other intervenors" in making this request.

Traci,

PG&E does not oppose the request. Please include the following statement of PG&E's position in your email to the ALJs:

PG&E does not oppose the requested extension, but believes it is important for the Commission, the public and the company to bring these proceedings to a timely conclusion. If the extension to file the opening brief is granted, PG&E requests that it have until May 31st to file its responsive brief, which would otherwise be due the Tuesday after the Memorial Day holiday weekend.

Thank you,

Joe

Joe: DRA has polled the other intervenors and we all think it would be helpful to have a two week extension for the Fines & Remedies Opening Brief. It is now due Friday, April 26. We propose that it be due Friday, May 10.

I was going to e-mail the ALJ with a cc to the service list later today with the request. Can we represent that PG&E is in agreement with this request?
