Scott –

Here is the memo we sent to Judge Hecht about the EE data. In it, we point out that they either need to do the inspection process that everyone else does, or else get the CPUC to tell us to release the data. I think that not only is this a requirement on PG&E, it makes sense in light of the privacy issues inherent in sharing customer data.

Note that this is one of two data issues, the other is the question of the interval data that they want delivered automatically with a day-long latency. In this case, we recognize that they should have access to this data, but that we do not have a reasonable process for providing it on a continual basis until the CDA functions are built. We are working on that one with Alope Gupta, and we are exploring workarounds. Let me know if you would like more or would like to meet with us.

yours, sid

Dear Judge Hecht-

Per your request, here is PG&E's summary of the customer data access/data privacy issue that MEA and PG&E discussed briefly in the Energy Data Center workshop yesterday. Note that the issue does not involve or affect the rights of CCAs to energy usage data for their own CCA customers; it only relates to how the Commission's privacy rules apply to requests by CCAs that IOUs provide customer energy usage data without customer consent for IOU customers who are not CCA customers, e.g. IOU gas customers or IOU electric customers who have "opted out" of CCA service. MEA's request relates to energy efficiency programs that MEA is planning to implement.

Comments, thoughts are welcome!

MEA and CPUC teams --

Sorry for my tardy response on this memo -- it is entirely due to my being on the road all day. In any case, here is the legal memo requested. Please let us know if you have any questions about it.

[Redacted] will be back on Monday and will coordinate with [Redacted] on finishing up scheduling the meeting.

Thanks.

yours, sid
