No letter that remember. Paul would know. I do have this:

--- "A Bay Area legislator has said he doesn't want fines PG&E will pay to California for the San Bruno pipeline fire and explosion to be swallowed up by the state's general fund. Instead, Assemblymember Jerry Hill wants the money to go toward the upgrade of the utility's system. On Tuesday from the steps of the State Public Utilities Commission, Hill said he wants to offset the costs for ratepayers for the reconstruction of PG&E's gas transmission system. Hill stated under current law the money would go to the general fund, but that his law is necessary." <http://sanfrancisco.cbslocal.com/2012/05/29/bill-proposed-to-ensure-pge-blast-fine-is-spent-on-pipeline-upgrades/>

Did Sen Hill send the CPUC a letter (or anyone you know publicly) expressing his support for the penalty going to safety rather than the Gen Fund?

I can't seem to find it if he did.
