A 37-year veteran of the telecommunications industry, Sandra Goeken Miles currently serves as President of the Goeken Group Corp., headquartered in Naperville, Illinois whose wholly owned subsidiary is PolyBrite International.

PolyBrite International offers LED lighting under the Borealis Lighting brand name. PolyBrite is the developer of advanced technologies bringing LED lighting into the general illumination field since 1995. PolyBrite bulbs are 100% green with no mercury or hazardous material, last up to 10 years, emit no heat or UV rays and use 90% less energy consumption than everyday bulbs.

Throughout her career, Ms. Goeken Miles crossed cultural barriers to provide air-to-ground telecommunications services to foreign countries. As the past chairman and CEO of In-Flight Phone International, and President of Airfone, Inc., Sandra helped pioneer the air-to-ground industry.

In Canada a public company was acquired through a reverse takeover on the Ottawa Exchange which then was moved on to the Toronto Exchange.

Ms. Goeken Miles was also instrumental in the startups of Business Telecommunications, which was sold to a Canadian phone company and Goeken Systems' FTD Floral Network, Inc.

In 1992, President George H. W. Bush appointed Ms. Goeken Miles to the Federal Communication Commission's Small Business Advisory Committee, where she was elected Chair of the New Technology subcommittee.
