Hi there,

I'm trying to make this work and I will. Here's my thing - the presentation doesn't flow right because my slides show 2012 data while yours show 2009 data; my slides show averages and your slides bring income. and so, I will do the following:

I will show my slide deck as is and then create another deck that shows income versus usage for four N. Cali cities.

thanks,
marzia

We did our "rate designer" best to give you something simple.

We left your slides unchanged, however we did add about 4 slides to the end. We think they are simple, but let us know what questions you have/ if you want changes.

We didn't want to add too much text to our slides either, as, consistent with your objectives, you don't want to put any conclusions out there at this time.

Please email us/ call If you like to discuss.

Thanks

PS: We don't have ready access (in your timeframe of the next 24 hours) to unincorporated and don't believe it changes the data significantly.
