Hi friends –

Thought I would try to make sure that my California colleagues and friends are aware of the upcoming AWWEE conference, November 12 & 13 in San Diego at the Sheraton (right after the Veteran's Day weekend). Early registration ends Oct 3. It's a good lineup this year, as always, and in a beautiful place. I'm excited about it and hope to see you there if you can make it.

This year's program will bring industry leaders together to discuss such diverse topics as the future of the western electrical grid, the Delta water conveyance project, ethics, and impacts we are seeing today due to climate change. This is a great opportunity to learn from these impressive and accomplished women and to network with them and others attending the conference

Confirmed speakers for the conference include:

- Ann Chan, Deputy Secretary for Climate Change and Energy, California Natural Resources Agency
- Kim Delfino, California Program Director, Defenders of Wildlife and Member, California Water Commission
- Karen Edson, Vice President of Policy and Client Services, California Independent System Operator
- Teresa Engstrom, Assistant Division Chief, Division of Engineering, California Department of Water Resources
- Dr. Rebecca Johnson, Policy Analyst, Western Interstate Energy Board
- Elissa Lynn, Climate Change Program Manager, California Department of Water Resources
- Debra Man, Assistant General Manager and Chief Operating Officer, Metropolitan Water District of Southern California
- Mary Nichols, Chair, California Air Resources Board
- Amanda Ormond, Managing Director, Western Grid Group
- Sue Ramos, Deputy General Manager--Resources, Westlands

Water District

- Dr. Lynda Rudolph, Co-Director, Public Health and Climate Change Program, Public Health Institute
- Mary Tyree, Analyst, Scripps Institution of Oceanography
- Rebecca Walker, Partner, Kaplan & Walker LLP
- And other leaders in these fields

The conference program is attached for your convenience. For more information regarding registration and the conference venue, San Diego Sheraton Hotel and Marina, please visit www.awwee.org.

All the best,

Laura
