Subject: RE: PG&E gas operations org chart

Hello Nat --- I just followed up with the team that is pulling the info together for you --- sorry that we missed Monday, but we should be back on track to finish this.

Unfortunately, not many of the vacancies have been filled yet that are on the 9/18 org chart (it seems to take about 3 months on average to get openings filled unless we are fortunate enough to find an internal candidate). If a update comes out during this next month, I will make sure to forward to you also. Are you interested in certain positions being filled --- if so, I can make sure to get you an update on those when they are filled, so you can have a contact name.

Thx

Jane

Hi Jane,

I just wanted to touch base on the QA/QC materials and see if you've had a chance to forward those yet. Also, is there a more recent org chart than 9/18 you'd be able to send my way? I noticed quite a few vacancies (hopefully they have been filled!) and we'd like to have the most current info on our counterparts.

Best,

Nat

I will try to get to you by next Monday – is that acceptable? I know it's taken longer than we wanted, but we've had a series of people away.

Thx

Jane

Hi Jane,

Thank you for the updated org chart and we look forward to receiving the QA/QC materials. Any ballpark estimate on when they will come our way?

Best,
Nat

Nat, here's our latest org chart; we've had a few changes since we meet in late August, mostly to continue to group our functions to improve work flow. Please let me know if there's anything else you need.

We are going to be forwarding our QA/QC program materials soon to you, Tom and Joe – I apologize for the delay, but we had various calendar challenges for all of September and some vacations.

Thank you,

Jane

Hello Nat –

Here's the most recent org chart for Gas Operations (we update every few months, so when the new one is ready for September, I will forward it to you). All-things-gas, are under Nick's responsibility, and if you have any questions, please don't hesitate to give me a call.

Thanks,

Jane

Hi Jane,

It was a pleasure meeting with you and the other PG&E management in the gas operations area last week. As part of the follow up, I was hoping we could get an electronic copy of the org chart for gas operations. Also, I wanted to confirm that everything related to gas (e.g. TIMP, GRC, planning) are under Nick's responsibility.

Best,

Nat
